OIL CANNING DISCLAIMER

Contractor: _____

Job Name / Location: _____

We as manufacturers would like to offer you some information in regards to Oil Canning to make sure that you completely understand the material you are ordering.

Please see attached here some technical/informational articles in regards to Oil Canning for you to read and understand the effects.

As the manufacturer we ensure that all reasonable precautions are taken in the ordering of raw material, production and handling of all material to reduce the appearance of oil canning. We inspect the raw material upon arrival for any defects and confirm that it matches the State of Florida requirements as well as inspect the roll formed product to confirm that it matches the specifications of the machine manufacturer and the Florida Product Approval specification.

In general, oil canning is an aesthetic condition with no effect on the structural integrity of the deck. Since many uncontrollable factors can lead to oil canning, Mid Florida Metal Roofing Supply, Inc. assumes no responsibility for the cost of actions taken in response to an oil canning condition. Oil Canning is not grounds for panel rejection.

I the owner and contractor/installer accept the information provided by Mid Florida Metal Roofing, Inc. attached herein and understand that MFMRS is not responsible or cannot control the appearance of Oil Canning.
